

THEATERS

"The Copperhead"

Lionel Barrymore in a striking screen version of "The Copperhead," the play in which he scored his greatest success on the stage. The picture is said to follow closely Augustus Thomas' original story.

The locale is Millville, Ill., and the action takes place during three periods—that of the Mexican War, just before the Civil War, in 1862, and in 1904. Mr. Barrymore appears as the hero, Milt Shanks, who in his accomplishment of a most dangerous and important mission for President Lincoln is obliged to pose as a traitor to his country, is disowned by his own friends and family, and is vindicated only upon his death bed. A whole village was constructed by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation as the background for the film and no efforts were spared.

Theda Bara

Theda Bara, the beautiful William Fox star, poses for a statue of the Madonna in her newest super-production, "The Light." This picture tells the story of the "wickedest woman in Paris," whose beauty makes her the idol of men. While Paris is striving strenuously to avert a great disaster, and other women slave and toil for the cause, this wanton woman lives a life of revelry.

A sculptor sees her beauty and longs to have her pose for his statue of the Madonna. He feels there must be some grain of goodness behind such a beautiful face. He is right. As she is eloping with an Apache dancer she sees the sculptor, who has been blinded suddenly.

That is the call. The wicked woman sees the light at last. She spirits away the sightless sculptor, sacrificing all, and turning her back forever upon frivolity, that she may nurse him and care for him.

Wallace Reid

Success depends a lot upon liking your job. That holds for motion pictures as well as business. It is one of the reasons why the new picture starring Wallace Reid, "Excuse My Dust," is one of the best vehicles in which the handsome star has yet appeared.

He likes a fast racing car and a journey at break-neck speed over the smooth highways of California. That's just what he did in "Excuse My Dust." The story presents him as "Toodles" Walden, manager of the Western branch of the "Darco" automobile company. In a wild race from Los Angeles to San Francisco with his firm's deadly rivals, "Toodles" is run off the road into a ditch, but gamely stays in the race and sees his competitors beaten.

Madeline Travers

The intense heart interest which so deeply stirred audiences that saw "Snares of Paris" demonstrates convincingly that this new Fox production has passed successfully the severest test of the photoplay. The story, well wrought and well photographed, involves the beautiful and loved wife of a great French diplomat—a woman who almost wrecks the ship of state in her effort to conceal from her husband the secret of a girlhood indiscretion. In stormy emotion no screen actress surpasses Miss Travers and in several scenes of "Snares of Paris" she is enabled to demonstrate this fact.—Adv.

Summer School To Be Well Attended

More Than 200 Teachers Hearing Interesting And Instructive Addresses — Kindergarten Course Especially Important

HONOLULU, July 8.—With an enrollment of more than 175, which was swelled to 210 this morning, Hawaii's Territorial Summer School opened at McKinley High School yesterday under the direction of William McCluskey, principal of Kauai High school.

Wednesday's program was devoted principally to the enrollment of students and a general assembly at which the various courses, special lectures and demonstrations were explained in detail.

The first general assembly lecture was given at 10 o'clock this morning by Dr. W. T. Brigham, director emeritus of the Bernice Pauahi Bishop museum. His subject was "Reminiscences of Earlier Years." He reviewed the history of education since the first organized school in the Territory and showed modern methods of instruction and been inaugurated here long before they were adopted in continental United States west of the Mississippi river. He said a high tribute to the present school system and prophesied a future that would show the Territorial system of education to be one of the very finest in the United States.

At tomorrow morning's general assembly at 10 o'clock, Albert Pierce Taylor, who has been a member of the reportorial staff of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser for more than 20 years, will talk on "Adventures of a Journalist."

This afternoon one of the most interesting courses in the summer school program will begin—that on Hawaiian handicraft by Mrs. Elmira Kalaokalani, who has been instructor in this interesting study at the Territorial Normal school for the past year. Another interesting course which begins today is that on Hawaiian History and Folklore, under the direction of Mrs. Emma Nakuiua, also on the staff of the Normal school.

Some of the assembly lectures for the coming seven days are:

July 12—"The Japanese in Hawaii" V. Okumura.

July 13—"Americanization," Charles F. Loomis.

July 14—"Education in Rural Communities," J. O. Warner.

July 15—"Girl Scouts," Miss Agnes Judd.

July 16—"Hawaiian Games," J. S. Emerson.

July 19—"Kahunaism," J. S. Emerson.

July 20—"Finances and Teachers," Richard H. Trent.

Perhaps the most important course to be given at the summer school will be that of kindergarten work under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ely of Chicago. Assisted by Miss Frances Lawrence, of the Honolulu Kindergarten association, Mrs. Ely will give demonstrations daily at the Castle Memorial kindergarten on King street. A large number of students have enrolled for this course.

There will be six periods daily at the summer school for all courses, and they include all six days of the week, from Monday to Saturday.

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

From Maui News, July 14, 1900.

A large number of the residents of Makawao, Pala, Hamakua and Spreckelsville assembled at the residence of Dr. E. G. Beckwith to celebrate the Fourth. The grounds were gaily decked with bunting and flags; their spaciousness affording ample opportunity for games and tennis which were indulged in until the call for lunch. After lunch there were speeches, serious and humorous, and singing of national anthems, when all adjourned to the polo field adjoining. A very spirited game of polo was played between two teams captained by J. J. von Tempsky and W. O. Aik, respectively, the former being the winners. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the committee who had the affair in charge for a most enjoyable and successful Fourth of July.

Mr. J. N. Marshall, head luna at Spreckelsville has accepted a like position on the Wailuku plantation taking the place of Mr. W. G. Scott who retires on account of ill health. A new residence on Main street adjoining that of Dr. Weddick is to be erected for Mr. Marshall.

Judge J. W. Kalua has received his commission as Circuit Judge.

Mr. Edward Wilcox has been appointed postmaster at Ulupalakua.

Fifteen head of horses have been shot at Ulupalakua with the glanders and several more cases have been reported.

Mrs. S. D. Heapy and Mrs. G. D. Schrader of Wailuku were passengers on the last Australia for the Coast.

A few days ago the firm of Alexander and Baldwin became a Hawaiian corporation having been previously but a private concern. Mr. Baldwin will now become its president and a rearrangement of the other officers will follow.

Garden "Gass"

A consignment of vegetables recently received by D. G. Camerinos from the ranch of T. Hayselden, Koele, Lanai, shows what the Islands will produce without irrigation. It included cauliflower, turnips, carrots, lima beans, small beans, peas, okra, onions, and summer squash.—Advertiser.

The proposition to establish a bank in Wailuku is being discussed in several quarters and the question of whether or not it would pay is being carefully weighed. Within a year or two after Maui becomes a separate municipality a county bank will be an almost absolute necessity. And there is no doubt but that a savings, loan and exchange bank, if established in Wailuku, would prove a profitable institution. It was the wish of the News that such an institution would be started with Maui capital, but from present indications, it will, when started, be run as a branch of a Honolulu bank and the deposits of the Maui people will be invested in Honolulu. Even that would be better than to have to do without a bank.

Cannot some method be devised whereby a uniform standard of time can be adopted for all the Islands or at least for Maui? At present, it is not safe to accept an invitation to dine in a neighboring baliwick on Maui for fear of arriving with the wine and walnuts. It is somewhat bewildering for a resident in Lahaina to start to Wailuku and learn on his arrival that he has reached Wailuku a few minutes before he left Lahaina, —by Lahaina time.

Now is the time for an enterprising Yankee to come to Maui and go into the business of manufacturing guava jelly. Thousands of tons of guavas rot on the ground every year and there is a fortune for the man who starts the enterprise.

Mrs. Reynold Restarick McGrew, of Honolulu, was on Monday fined $50 and costs and her chauffeur's license revoked for one year, by Judge A. D. Larnagh, of the district court. An appeal for a jury trial has been noted. Mrs. McGrew's car recently struck and injured a little Portuguese girl. It was being driven on the wrong side of the street. The driver had had a previous similar accident to her credit.

10 Japanese Indicted—The territorial grand jury last Saturday returned indictments against 10 Japanese charging kidnapping. The charges grew out of the recent strike on Oahu.
